DETAILED ACTION

1. The Request for Continued Examination (RCE) filed on 8 July 2005 under 37 CFR 1.53(d) based on parent Application No. 09/873,067 is acceptable and a RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.
2. The amendments filed on 8 July 2005, submitted with the filing of the RCE have been received and entered. Claims 17-40 as amended are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 2173

3. Claims 17-18, 21-24, 27-30, 33-36 and 39-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jakobson U.S. Patent 6,697,838.

Referring to claims 17, 23, 29 and 35, Jakobson teaches a method, apparatus, means and computer readable storage comprising identifying a particular resource displayed in a first web page using a device that displays the first web page (the client device which displays the web pages displays, i.e. identifies, a plurality of resources, i.e. URLs) (column 9, lines 46-64 and Figure 2K); determining, with the device, whether an entry corresponding to the particular resource displayed on the first web page is contained in a database on the device that correlates supplemental information to each of a plurality of resources (the processor of the client device determines whether supplemental information such as a note file related to the resource, i.e. the URL, is contained in a database stored on the storage device of the client device) (column 3, line 6-column 4, line 29 and column 9, lines 46-64), wherein the database is separate from the first web page and the first web page is ordinarily devoid of the supplemental information (the associated note data is displayed when the user clicks on the URL; in other words, if the user does not click on the URL, the web page is devoid of, i.e. does not display the associated note) (column 9, lines 46-64); and displaying supplemental information for the particular resource along with and separate from the first web page where it is determined that the database contains an entry for the particular resource (the supplemental note data is displayed along with, i.e. on the web page, and separate from, i.e. in a separate area on the web page, as shown in Figures 2F and 2K) (column 8, lines 35-51 and column 9, lines 46-64).

Referring to claims 18, 24, 30 and 36, Jakobson teaches the particular resource is a link to a second webpage (the resource is a link, i.e. URL to a web page) (Figure 2K).

Art Unit: 2173

Referring to claims 21, 27, 33 and 39, Jakobson teaches detecting an event relating to the particular resource, wherein the event prompts the display of supplemental information for the particular resource (detecting an event such as selection of the resource, i.e. URL, which prompts, or causes the display of the associated note data) (column 3, line 6-column 4, line 29 and column 9, lines 46-64).

Referring to claims 22, 28, 34 and 40, Jakobson teaches wherein the event is a cursor rollover of the particular resource and the supplemental information is superimposed on the first web page in the vicinity of the display of the particular resource (when the user selects the URL by moving the cursor to the URL and selecting it, the supplemental note data is displayed on the first web page in the vicinity of, or near the URL, as shown in Figures 2F and 2K) (column 3, line 6-column 4, line 29, column 8, lines 35-51 and column 9, lines 46-64).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 19-20, 25-26, 31-32 and 37-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jakobson U.S. Patent 6,697,838 as applied to the claims above, and Harris et al. U.S. Patent 6,014,635 (hereinafter Harris).

Referring to claims 19-20, 25-26, 31-32 and 37-38, Jakobson teaches all of the limitations as applied to the claims above. Specifically, Jakobson teaches a second web page (the resource is a link, i.e. URL to a web page) (Jakobson: Figure 2K) and the supplemental information being obtained from the database and not being ordinarily evident from the webpage (the associated note data stored in the database is displayed when the user clicks on the URL; in other words, if the user does not click on the URL, the web page is devoid of, i.e. does not display the associated note) (Jakobson: column 3, line 6-column 4, line 29 and column 9, lines 46-64). However, Jakobson fails to explicitly teach the second web page correlates to a purchasable item, and the displayed supplemental information including a consumer incentive available to the user and relating to the purchasable item. Harris teaches a system for interacting with a user (Harris: column 2, line 18-column 3, line 6) similar to that of Jakobson. In addition, Harris further teaches consumer incentives available to the user relating to the items being purchased, wherein the consumer incentive is a discount for purchasing the items using a particular credit card (using the preferred discount credit system) (Harris: column 2, lines 18-25 and column 2, line 53-column 3, line 6). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, having the teachings of Jakobson and Harris before him at the time the invention was made, to modify the system for displaying a link to a second web page and supplemental information stored in a database relating to a particular resource of Jakobson to include the consumer incentives relating to a purchasable item taught by Harris, in order to obtain a system wherein the second web page correlates to purchasable items and the supplemental information includes consumer incentives such as a discount for purchasing the purchasable item.. One would have motivated to make such a combination in order to promote and increase the online sale of goods and services.

Response to Arguments
